

Parameters	4	3	2	1
Phonological Control	Speaker can sustain use of wide range of pronunciation features with variety of intonation pattern and appropriately use stress to give precise context. Speaker can adapt to interlocutor's rate of speech without causing communication breakdown.	Speaker has a range of pronunciation features and can apply variety of intonation pattern but, cannot sustain on lengthy discourse. Slips may occur at fast pace.	Speaker has limited range of pronunciation features with noticeable lapses on sound production. Speaker is inconsistent in using intonation patterns. Speaker may try to repair communication breakdown but often unsuccessful.	Speech is generally unintelligible. It is overpowered by sound of the first language influence resulting to frequent communication breakdown without repair.
Lexical Resource	Has a good command of the language; can use wide range of vocabulary and complex sentence construction to give finer shade on familiar and unfamiliar topics. Also, speaker has a good command of idiomatic expression and colloquialisms - avoiding transliteration.	Has enough range of language to give clear description and express opinion on familiar topics. Speaker has controlled use of idiomatic expression and colloquialisms. Communication breakdown may occur due to inappropriate use of words but often can correct his self successfully.	Can use common words and phrases to express himself with some hesitation resulting to awkward pauses. Has limited flexibility in using idiomatic expressions and colloquialisms. Speaker can repair communication breakdown if any, but often unsuccessful.	Has limited repertoire of vocabulary and phrases which results to frequent fumbling for words and/or inappropriate use of words. Uses simple sentence structure and often with error/s. Frequent communication breakdown may occur without repair.
Grammatical Accuracy	Can consistently produce simple and complex sentences with high grammatical accuracy.	Can consistently produce sentences with high percentage of grammatical accuracy on simple sentences. Grammatical slips may occur on the more complex sentence but rare and negligible. Can successfully use repair strategy.	Can correctly use simple grammatical patterns with good accuracy; systematic error occurs on more complex sentences. Some errors may occur on simple grammatical patterns but can generally repair.	Can produce sentences with frequent errors even with simple and common rules, causing frequent communication breakdown without repair.
Interaction and Discourse Management	Can contribute to a meaningful lengthy interaction with ease. Speaker uses proper tone and register in respect to differences all the time.	Can build connection observing tone and register most of the time. Speaker can contribute to the conversation but with hesitation. Speaker has negligible fillers.	Can build connection with obvious effort in sustaining and terminating the conversation. Tone is leaning towards sleepy, uninterested or robotic. Can converse with several instances of fillers and dead air.	Speaker is tremulous or uncertain to control the conversation. Conversation is very limited - lacks timely/appropriate responses. Speaker can converse with glaring fillers and dead air which may cause a negative reaction from the interlocutor. Also, speaker's tone and register used are not apt which can be interpreted as rude.
Coherence	Can come up with a complete discourse even on complex and uncommon topics that has sensible sequence using wide range of cohesive devices and sequence markers.	Can come up with sound and progressive discourse on common topics with consistent use of cohesive devices and sequence markers. Discourse maybe incomplete, but can focus on one topic.	Can come up with a discourse with limited use of cohesive devices and sequence markers; presentation of idea/opinion/instruction has irregular progression/sequence, jumpiness and circular explanation.	Idea is scattered and lacks or has very limited use of cohesive devices and sequence marker resulting to frequent communication breakdown.